Proposal Executive Summary
Every year, CSM spends between $20,000 and $30,000 in Microsoft licensing. We are looking at upgrading the instructional Classroom/Lab machines to Office 2013, which will cost $67,000. We also field requests for Windows and Office licenses for students all the time -- some students are entitled to Windows licenses under the various DreamSpark programs, but these are not campus wide, and no student is entitled to Office licenses. In looking at all of these numbers, CCIT realized that it is time to open the discussion with Microsoft of a campus license agreement again. In collaboration with Insight, our Microsoft VAR for the State of Colorado Select agreement, we have come up with a proposal that will cover all of the above costs, and add Office licenses for the instructional Classroom/Lab machines as well as Office home-use licenses for students, in the form of a Microsoft EES License. This is a yearly license, that we are proposing Tech Fee pay 1, 2, or 3 years up front for.

Microsoft EES License

Technical Basis for Proposal

Our computing environment is heavily geared towards Microsoft on the client side. A majority of our software only comes for the Windows platform. Every year, CSM spends between $20,000 and $30,000 in Microsoft licensing under the State of Colorado Select contract. CCIT is looking at upgrading the instructional Classroom/Lab machines to Office 2013 for the Fall 2015 semester, which will cost $67,000 ($51.51 per seat, for 1300 instructional Classroom/Lab machines).

CCIT also fields requests for Windows and Office licenses for students regularly at the CTLM Front Desk. While some students are entitled to Windows licenses under the various DreamSpark programs, these are not campus wide. Additionally, no student is entitled to Office licenses under any existing program, forcing students to pay for the Home & Student Office license at $150, or a 4 year subscription for Office 365 Student edition at $80.

In looking at all of these numbers, CCIT realized that it is time to open the discussion with Microsoft of a campus license agreement again. In collaboration with Insight, our Microsoft VAR for the State of Colorado Select agreement, we have come up with a proposal that will cover all of the above costs, and add Office licenses for the instructional Classroom/Lab machines as well as Office home-use licenses for students, in the form of a Microsoft EES License. This is a yearly license, that we are proposing Tech Fee pay 1, 2, or 3 years up front for. It includes a Desktop EDU Enterprise CAL for all faculty & staff – this grants CSM the right to install Windows & Office on all CSM-owned computers, and also grants Office Home-Use rights for faculty staff, which in turn grants us the option of adding Office 365 Pro Plus for every student, essentially giving all students Home-Use rights as well.

Educational and other Benefits

This proposal will allow CCIT to keep the campus as a whole at a standard level of Windows & Office for all CSM-owned computers, giving faculty & students the same user experience across campus. Additionally, students will be able to install Office 365 Pro Plus on their own personal machines, allowing them the ability to create and share documents that match with the campus machines they may be using.

If this proposal is not funded, CCIT's Lab Team will be putting in a proposal in the spring to upgrade the labs to Office 2013, CSM will continue to pay piecemeal for Microsoft licensing across campus, and students will not have access to the home-use Office 365 Pro Plus offering.
